Advocate '83 Needham High School

Ms. Burke,

You put up with our rushed, hectic deadlines, our Dorito and M&M binges, our "loud" music, our late night meetings, and our moments of complete panic and tragedy. We love and respect you for your advice, support, understanding and friendship throughout the year. Thank you.

All our love,

WE HONOR

WILLIAM E. HUNT

William Hunt began his career at Needham High School in 1954. For eight years he was known as an outstanding teacher of American History. A former Army Air Corps bomber pilot, he is renowned for his lessons on the strategic bombing of Germany. Mr. Hunt became an Administrative Assistant in 1962; in 1967, his title was changed to Assistant Principal. As an administrator, teachers, parents, and students have come to know and respect Mr. Hunt for his thoroughness, his firmness, his sincerity, and his interest in young people. After twenty-eight years at Needham High School, Mr. Hunt has earned his retirement; but his departure leaves a void of competence and dedication that make him hard to replace.

As you leave Needham High School, Mr. Hunt, the students and faculty wish to take this opportunity to say thank you and to wish you many years of happy and productive retirement.

FASHION FLASH

What is the state of fashion at Needham High School in 1983? Do Needham High students dress in style, or are they anti-style? Have highwater slacks come back? Will sweatshirts and denim jackets ever go out? Should wool scarves be worn around the neck, or the forehead? Is a three piece suit the proper attire for an English class? In answer to these questions, the Advocate has made a visual collection of the student response.

The more noticeable trends include green blue jeans died disco purple. Sweats are very popular; now you can have that "I just jogged" look all day. Sweats are no longer available in gray, only colors like fire engine red and lightening yellow. The word on underwear? Let it show, let it show, let it show — specifically, make the presence of your thermal undershirts known. As for footwear, the oldest, grungiest pair of sneakers will always fit right in. Looking for bad weather boots? You'll have to rely on your preppy old mud-mocks because the fashionable Robin Hood boots are for looks only.

Of course, there is no easy way to summarize the entire fashion scene at NHS; let's just say it's consistent in its diversity.

Are You An N.H.S. Female?

Can of Tab — "I'm dieting."

Walkman — "Life is so complicated these days, you've gotta tune out."

Bandana — "... Very earthy."

Demin jacket — "... So European!"

Copy of Mademoiselle — "...
Keeps me up on the styles in Paris."

Big Wheels — "I'm binging."

Kidney bean purse — "... Just big enough for my comb."

Prairie skirt — "Denim, all the way!"

Leg warmers — "... A must for wearing skirts in February."

Robin Hood boots — "I like to keep my feet merry."

Are You An N.H.S. Male?

Portable stereo — "... Really gets to people."

Cigarette dangling from lip — "It gives my voice a gruff edge."

Denim jacket — "It's a place to hang my buttons."

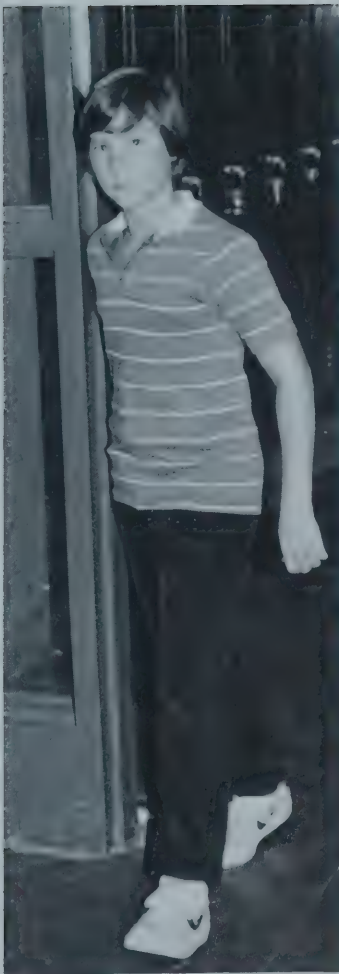

Collar turned up — "... Keeps out the drafts."

Bandana around thigh — "I don't know why it's there; everybody does it."

Combat boots, unlaced — "Hey, I never learned how to tie 'em."

TRANSITIONS

Many transitions occur between the time we enter Needham High School as scared freshmen and the time we graduate as confident (?) seniors. The more obvious changes take place in our social lives.

* * * * *

In typing class, Melvin, a freshman, composes a note and passes it discreetly to Louise. The note reads: "Do you want to go to the school dance with me? Put one milk carton on your lunch tray for yes, two for no, and three for not sure." The following Saturday night four-foot-eight Melvin dances ecstatically with five-foot-four Louise.

* * * * *

Charlie, a sophomore, likes Samantha, a sophomore as well. So, Charlie asks his friend Eddie if he would do him a mega-big favor. Eddie looks gravely at his friend. "Do you mean what I think you mean?" Charlie nods. "Well," Eddie says, "We all have our needs . . ." Like a pal, Eddie asks Samantha, surrounded by all her friends, if she would be willing to go to the movies with Charlie. Samantha, blushing profusely, her braces gleaming, squeaks, "Fersure!"

* * * * *

At home, Pete, a junior, bravely picks up the telephone and dials Janie's number. Clearing his throat and reciting his prepared speech, he asks Janie to a party. Janie's reply: "Uh, well . . . uh, I don't know . . . well, uh . . . maybe . . . okay, why not?" Pete immediately hangs up the phone and heaves a sigh. Rrrrinnnggg! "Ah, hello?"

"Hi, it's Janie. Were you going to pick me up?"

* * * * *

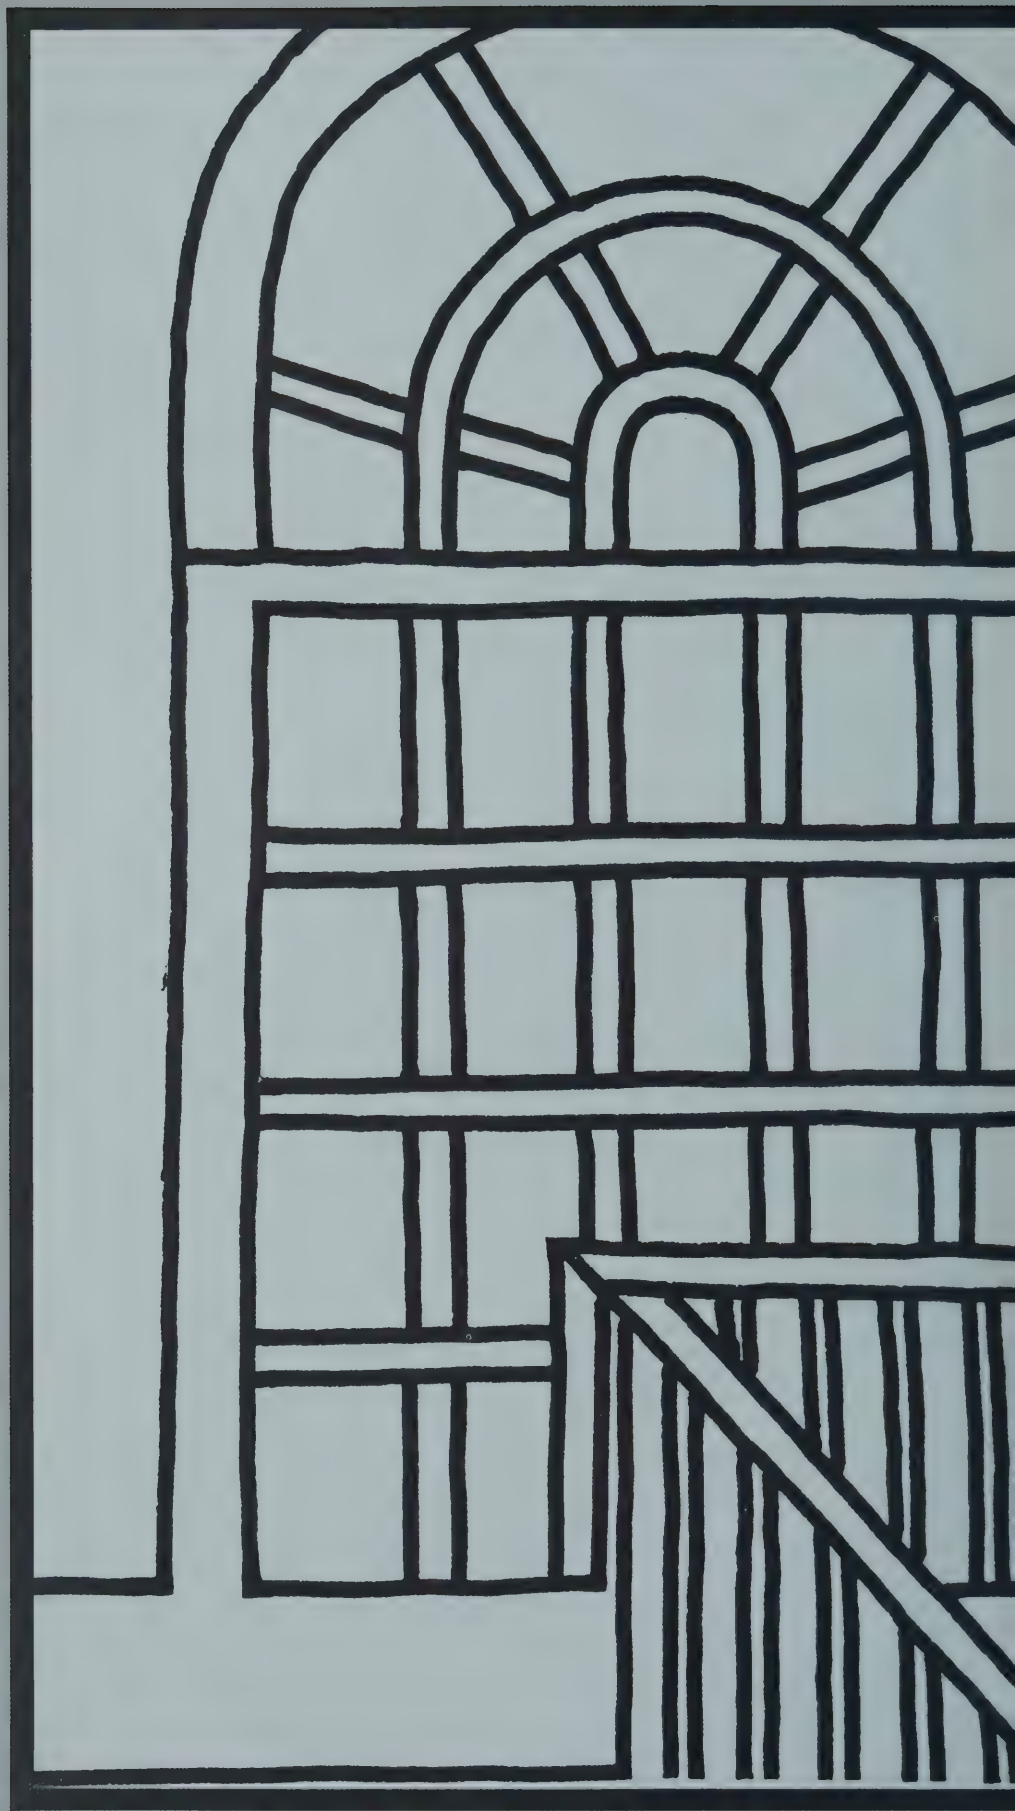

Vanessa, a senior, checks her watch. 12:17. He should be leaving the caf. "Now is the time for me to make my move. Here he comes." Six foot Freddie gathers his books and basketball and walks up the ramp.

"Why, Vanessa! Ah-ah-you look — how are you?"

"Hi, Freddie! I'm great, thanks. Would you like to go to a Celtics game with me tonight? My father has these two tickets and I don't know anything about basketball . . ."

"Yeah! Great!" Freddie yells. In his euphoria his basketball slips from his sweaty grasp, bouncing noisily down the ramp. An unsuspecting freshman busily arranging milk cartons on his tray collides with the runaway ball. Two milks fall off . . . well, there goes that date!

IN MEMORIAM

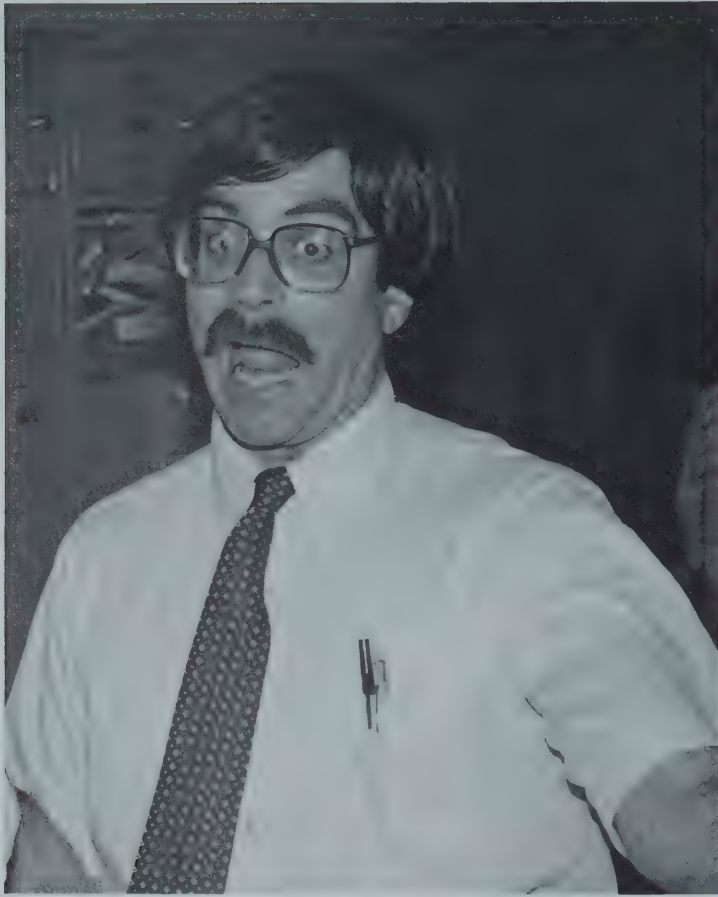

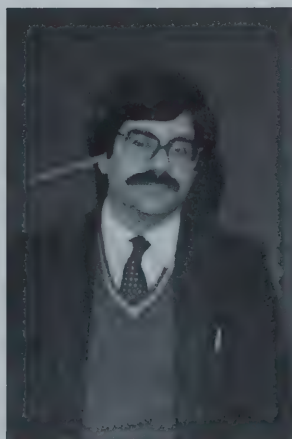

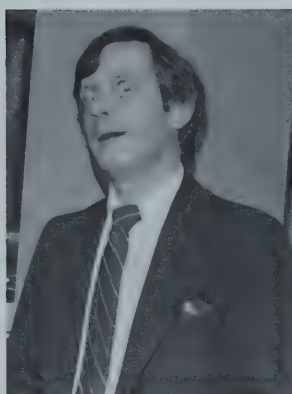

RICHARD NOBLE

Pablo Neruda — (no me lo pidan)
Debemos hacer algo en esta tierra proque en este planeta nos parieron
y hay que arreglar las cosas de los hombres . . .
Y bien, si cuando ataco lo que odio,
o cuando canto a todos los que quiero, . . .
tengo un pacto de amor con la hermosura;
tengo un pacto de sangre con mi pueblo.

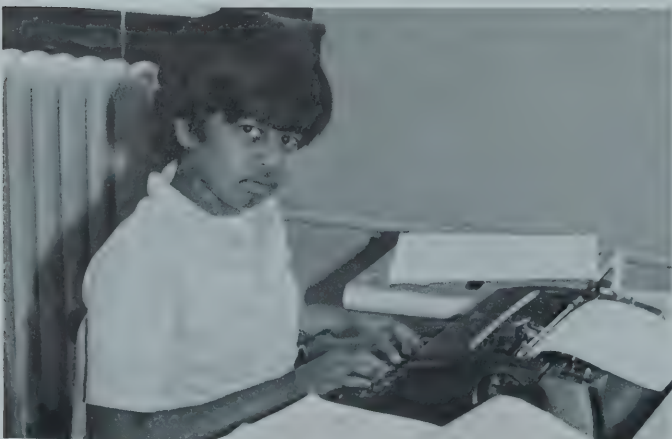

This earth demands something of us
because it gave us birth;
We must pay our human tribute:
I attack what I hate,
I sing what I love,
Because my soul is wed to beauty,
and my heart, bonded to my people.

OUR ENTERTAINING FACULTY

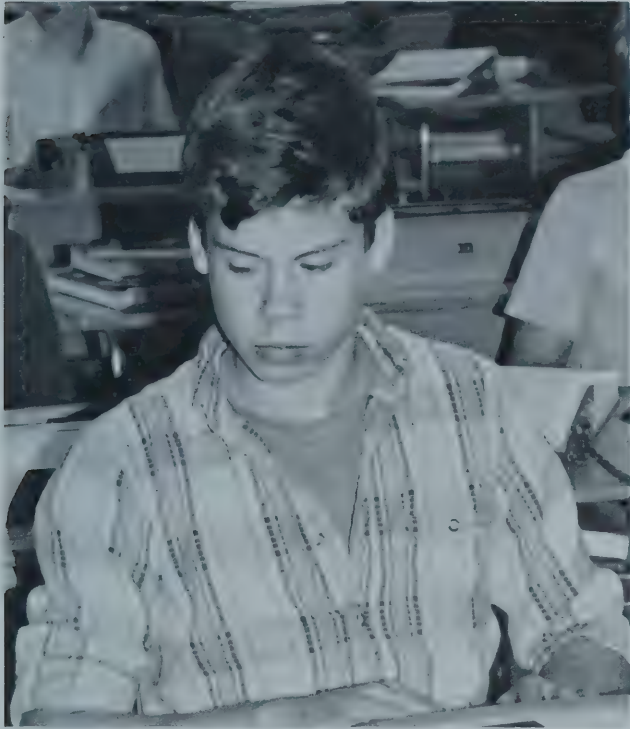

FRESHMAN INVADE

In September of 1981, the first freshman class entered Needham High School. Needless to say, the school hasn't been quite the same since. Although the average, individual freshman is so small as to be microscopic, the combined effect of those four hundred microbes is surprisingly potent. Walking down the hallway in between classes has become significantly more hazardous; the knee-high freshmen have a talent for dodging wildly through the dragging procession of mid-slump seniors. This is not to say that the freshmen are a menace to the school; in fact, most of their time is occupied in typing and CPR class. A word of advice from seniors to freshman; stay away from the chop suey.

NEEDHAM HIGH SCHOOL

Sophomoric . . .

Soliloquy of a Sophomore

To be or not to be a sophomore
(You have no choice).
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind
To suffer the slights and bullying
Of outrageous juniors,
Or take arms against a sea of seniors
And by opposing provoke them
To stomp, to squeeze, to dump our books.
The bummers and the bummed;
That is the lot of the sophomore class
'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished:
To get an open campus.
— Aye, there's the catch.
For in that freedom what joys may come,
When we can shuffle down to Stop 'n' Shop,
There's the escape
That makes bearable so long a year,
For who would bear the smirks of upper classmen.
The senior's superiority, the sophomore's complex.
To grunt and sweat through the NEDT's,
A weary life
Not suffered but for the dread of not taking
Every single standardized test.
We're the J.V. in everything
When the chance to be on varsity comes next September
We'll be there, ready to start another year,
Confident in our experience in the minor leagues.
Old sophomores never die, they become juniors.

Junior (june-yeer), n. 1. A third year member of a four year high school, characterized by hollow eyes (result of PSAT, SAT, ACH cramming) and a blank expression — nothing surprises the worldly junior, except perhaps his/her board scores. 2. colloq. — an insulting put-down, used especially by seniors when addressing an immature person — “You Junior!” Also, adj. 1. of, by, or pertaining to the junior class of a high school. 2. A term used to describe the third year of high school (i.e., the junior year), meaning the year in which students are pressured to work their boots off, the year in which the students are no longer a novelty to the school and vice-versa, making them feel like the middle child; the year in which students begin the application stage of life-receiving their first college brochures.

“I look back on my junior year with a shudder and with amazement — I didn’t know I could work that hard.”

SENIORITIS IS . . .

One long walk in the fog.
 Watching NHS turn from a college campus to an elementary school.
 Sleeping through Monday.
 Sending applications by express, one day, mail.
 Wondering where all the little kids came from.
 Finally getting first picks in gym and having nothing to choose from.
 Having a continuous headache.
 Pulling rank on underclassmen.
 Finally meeting your career counselor.

Wishing you were into coloring books again.
Calling your teachers by their first name.
Wearing your favorite sweater you've been afraid to wear for three years.
Wearing jeans two days in a row.
Keeping a supply of aspirin in your locker.
The fear of being carded in the hallways.
Being rejected from everywhere.
Finally making a varsity team and breaking your leg.
Giving yourself the respect you finally deserve.

THE CAF

The cafeteria, known by some as simply "the Caf", has long been a haven for studied-out, thought-out, burned-out, hungry students. It is the one place where we can relax, "study", eat, flirt, forget our pressures and talk with our friends. It is somehow separate from the rest of the school, in spite of the monitoring teachers; a place where kids are kids.

Recent attempts to stop the litter problem included shutting down the snack-bar and threats of closing the fast food line, leaving only the hot "lunch" line as the students only recourse against 4th period hunger pains. Thankfully, however, the shut-down didn't last long. Whether this is due to the efforts of students (and teachers) to clean up the cafeteria or the high rate of starvation that resulted from the loss of edible food is debatable.

I'm sure none of us will ever forget the cafeteria as the place where we cut our first class; the place we conned and plotted to get into and out of during lunch in our senior year; the place where our high school friendships grew.

'Twas the hour before deadline,
And in room 502
The scene of confusion
Resembled a zoo.

Layouts and photos
Were strewn here and there
While editors frantically
Pulled out their hair.

To finish the pages
Was indeed a hard task;
To make them all perfect
Was too much to ask.

Our noses in the guide book
And our hands stiff with glue,
We had just concluded
That we'd never be through.

Then out in the hall
There arose such a clatter
That we all exclaimed,
"What can be the matter?"

Then what to our hungering eyes
Should appear
But Ms. Burke with a sleigh Filled with corn chips and cheer.

Quick as a flash
Our faces alit.
The prospect of munchies
Were an immediate hit.

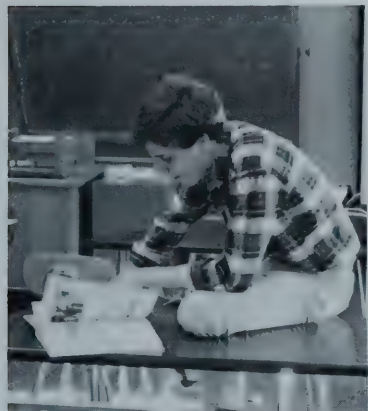

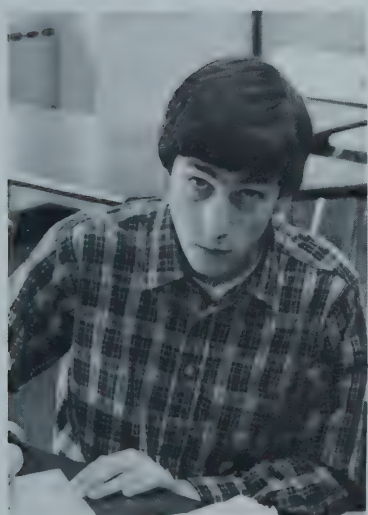

Our stomachs bloated
With Fritos and Tab,
We felt fresh for the battle
With no time to gab.

We were full of ideas
And fresh for the race.
The photographs just seemed
To fall into place.

At five of we finished
And dashed to the car.
We feared the post office
Would be much to far.

The yearbook was done,
It was fully complete,
The staff pulled it off —
What a marvelous feat!

We leave you this record,
This hardcover tie,
Here's to growing and friendship
And our own Neeham High.

THE HAWKEYES

1982 marks the centennial game of the classic Needham-Wellesley rivalry. Because it is the oldest and longest-running high school football rivalry in the country, the Needham-Wellesley Thanksgiving Games have always been well-attended; but this year's crowd, an estimated 15,000 fans, broke records. Karl Kreshpane and Peter Vigliano, '83, the highest scorers for Needham, each tallied twelve points, following Jim Sockol's leading touchdown

.... Sophomore Andy Effenson scored four points with four good kicks. The final score: Needham 36, Wellesley 14. Few people in the crowd could have been more pleased with the results than Daniel Comiskey, '10, the oldest living Needham alumnus of the Needham-Wellesley rivalry at age 88.

Congratulations, Needham, and here's to the next 100 years!

Time it was,

And what a time it was,

It was . . .

A time of innocence,

A time of confidence.

Long ago . . . it must be . . .

I have a photograph.

Preserve your memories;

They're all that's left you.
